

Maximize Profitability with the Analytix Solution for CPAs

Most companies consider their CPA firm an invaluable partner to their business operations. In addition to providing financial counsel, many CPA firms frequently find themselves managing or organizing their clients' bookkeeping and financial records, as well. Although necessary, this is not where a CPA's expertise is best leveraged.

At Analytix, we've created solutions specific to the needs of CPA firms. Depending on a firm's needs, we can provide the resources CPAs require to confidently delegate the more tactical accounting functions to trained accounting and bookkeeping professionals, thereby providing the CPA with more free time to focus on consulting services and proactive, client value-added work. The Analytix team provides scalable services ranging from bookkeeping to Controller and CFO level services, so we can augment an existing staff of accountants during peak periods or act as another resource that provides additional, high-level, financial reporting to clients.

Our accounting solutions and financial record preparation can be presented to a firm's clients as a referral, semi-private label, or private label, packaged under the firm's name. Similarly, CPA firms can leverage our secure web portal to provide clients with remote access to customized financial reports or integrate our electronic document management system into their processes to facilitate document submissions, organization and tracking. We automate accounting tasks and functions wherever possible to maximize efficiency and ensure data integrity.

CPA FIRMS

Benefits

Increase firm's profitability by focusing on higher revenue generating functions

Maximize efficiency by leveraging expertise of trained professionals

Customize financial reports based on client needs

Low or no technology investment

Assurance of data integrity due to automation

“Many of our clients do not require a full time employee at the controller or CFO level. The financials compiled and submitted to us by Analytix makes it seem as if our clients do have that high level staff member. Having Analytix involved makes our job and our clients' jobs easier.”
